Optimising the air flow in your pantry can help dissuade any odours from lingering.

HAMPTONS IN AUSTRALIA

"The previous dark, timber kitchen felt cramped with limited accessibility and storage capacity. Ready for a change, the homeowners wanted a brighter, more contemporary kitchen that reflected the design of the rest of the home. Drawing on the kitchen's interior surroundings, we wanted to create a unique Hamptons feel in an Australian manner. A relaxed and breezy aesthetic as well as a low-maintenance factor were incorporated into the design with the integration of carefully chosen elements. We put the available space to good use, designing a walk-in pantry that maximises storage and ensuring there are plentiful benchtops for cooking and serving. Mesh inserts were incorporated into the pantry to encourage air flow and provide an airy feel throughout the space. Metallic accents are scattered around the kitchen, complementing the benchtops and the cool atmosphere of the space. The contemporary-classic design lightens up the room and optimises the functionality of the space while at the same time offering a relaxed ambience."
