

DRESSED TO IMPRESS

EXPERT TIP
Creating separate zones for cooking and preparing drinks can maximise the functionality of a space.

"With a party fast approaching, we worked closely with the homeowners to create a modern kitchen with traditional features and luxury finishes within a set timeframe. The previous kitchen had 45-degree cabinets at both corners which required floor patching, as well as a dropped ceiling that was removed in the middle of renovation. The preceding dated space was beige with black benchtops and the homeowners wanted a fresh space that would amaze guests and cater to a large gathering with ease. Providing functionality with a wow factor for this busy family, the incredible large island with a Caesarstone White Attica benchtop was incorporated into the kitchen. Offering storage galore with Blum fittings, sink drawers and wing-line bench cabinets, this space is a high-flyer in all areas. The kitchen and bar areas are close by but zoned by their differing designs with two distinct colours, heights, benchtops and splashbacks – perfect for the upcoming celebrations. The custom cornice adds detail to this clean and chic space, a luxurious culmination of traditional meets modern."
