

CUSTOMER REVIEW

These satisfied homeowners love their Nobby kitchen!

How did you discover Nobby Kitchens and what made you choose them?

We've known about Nobby Kitchens for years – who could forget the “kitchens, kitchens, kitchens” ads? But this was the first time we've designed and built our own kitchen and we were looking for high quality, cost competitiveness and great service. Nobby delivered on all of that after we visited their showroom.

What was the design process and how did you feel going through it?

The design process was very collaborative. We were assigned our own designer, who was extremely professional and creative, helping us tailor the kitchen to exactly what we were after. Our designer was always ready to take a call or visit in person whenever we needed. We had a lot of fun working with him.

How long was the build process and how did the home's inhabitants cope during this period?

The build was extended a little by some ancillary work we were doing, but overall the process was about as unobtrusive as it could have been – especially since our home office is immediately adjacent to where it was all happening. The full project management service Nobby offers meant they organised everything and managed the stress if something didn't go quite to plan. Their tradesmen were exceptional – incredibly helpful, courteous and accommodating – and the quality of their work and attention to detail were amazing.

What is your favourite thing about your new kitchen space?

We love the colour – our friends call it bold! Also, the design allowed all of our appliances to be hidden away, which makes for a sleek, uncluttered look.

How has it changed the way you operate in your home?

The layout works incredibly well, even when there are two bossy women working in close proximity, and we have more kitchen storage space than we can fill.
